ARTHUR R. MARSHALL, LOXAHATCHEE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Refuge Opens L-40 Levee

A section of the L-40 Levee just two miles north of the Hillsboro Area entrance at the Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge has reopened to the public. Refuge visitors wanting to hike and bike the L-40 Levee will be able to enter at Lee Road and continue south 12 miles to the Hillsboro Area entrance (Loxahatchee Road). However, hikers and bikers should continue to watch for and yield to construction vehicles and equipment that may still be in the area. For more information call the Visitor Center at (561) 734-8303 or visit our web site at Loxahatchee.fws.gov.

The refuge is located off U.S. 441/SR 7, two miles south of SR 804 (Boynton Beach Blvd) and three miles north of SR 806 (Delray Beach's Atlantic Avenue). The refuge is currently open from 6:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., seven days a week. Refuge hours change seasonally and are posted at each entrance. The Visitor Center hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. from Wednesday through Friday and from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekends and holidays. The Visitor Center is closed on Christmas Day. An entrance fee of $5.00 per vehicle or $1.00 per pedestrian is charged. A variety of annual passes, including a $12.00 refuge specific annual pass, are available.

enforces Federal wildlife laws, administers the Endangered Species Act, manages migratory bird populations, restores nationally significant fisheries, conserves and restores wildlife habitat such as wetlands, and helps foreign governments with their conservation efforts. It also oversees the Federal Aid program that distributes hundreds of millions of dollars in excise taxes on fishing and hunting equipment to state fish and wildlife agencies.

The Centennial of the National Wildlife Refuge System in 2003 marks the 100th anniversary of the world's largest network of lands and waters set aside to protect wildlife. From its beginnings at Florida's tiny Pelican Island, the Refuge System has grown to encompass hundreds of unique, spectacular and truly wild places that harbor diverse species and welcome more than 35 million visitors each year.
